La Sagrada Familia

La Sagrada Familia is a Roman Catholic Church which is located in Barcelona, Spain. It is no longer a cathedral and in 2010, it was declared as a basilica by Pope Benedict XVI. It is also home to the tomb of Antoni Gaudi, who was the architect of this massive structure. He was killed a few days after being hit by a tram. In 1984, it was designated as a UNESCO world heritage site. Approximately 3 million people visit the site every year. It has three different facades which are the Nativity Façade, the Passion Façade and the Glory Façade. All three of them have different meanings.

Quick Facts: –

- The design has 18 towers. 12 of them represent the apostles, 4 represent the evangelists, 1 represents the Virgin Mary and the remaining 1 represents Jesus Christ.
- The entire construction of this structure has been funded by donations.
- The full name of La Sagrada Familia is Basilica I Temple Expiatori de la Sagrada Familia.
- It is the most celebrated work of Antoni Gaudi. Its construction started in 1882 and is still going on to this day.
- Antoni died in June, 1926 and at that time only 25% of the structure was completed.
- There are elevators inside the structure that allow visitors to see its lowest and highest points.

Cinco de Mayo: Fiesta Fun!

Check out these surprising facts about this celebration.

You might hear about Cinco de Mayo parties. But even though celebrations of Cinco de Mayo (which translates to the Fifth of May) originated in Mexico, the day is more popular in the United States!

So what does Cinco de Mayo celebrate? On the morning of May 5, 1862, 6,000 French troops stormed the Mexican city of Heróica Puebla de Zaragoza to bring it under French rule. The Mexican soldiers were outnumbered, but they fiercely fought back. By early evening, the French had retreated.

Now the people of Puebla, Mexico, observe the holiday Cinco de Mayo to celebrate this victory. The holiday is also widely celebrated in the United States. Americans use the celebration to honor the battle as well as Mexican culture.

In the United States, people attend parades with colorfully dressed dancers, listen to lively Mexican folk music called mariachi, and eat millions of avocados in traditional eats such as guacamole. Washington, D.C., even holds the Running of the Chihuahuas, where Chihuahuas (a breed that originated in Mexico) race each other for fun. Cinco de Mayo might be celebrated on the fifth day of May, but it gets a ten on the fun scale.

Alvaro Soler—Volar

Original Lyrics

Hoy me levanto sin pensar
Voy a dejarlo todo y luego yo
Pongo la mano en el aire, echo a volar
Sin complicarme la vida
Disfrutar y yo
Yo quiero más, quiero más
Es como quiero ser
Nada más nada más
Ni un minuto que perder

Translation in English

Today I wake up without thinking
I will leave everything behind and then
Put my hand in the air, I take off and fly
Without making my life harder than it has to be Rejoice and I
I want more, want more
It's how I want to be
Nothing more, nothing more
Not a minute to lose

Volar con el viento
Y sentir que se para el tiempo
Pintar el momento
Y las nubes ir persiguiendo
Saber cantar pasarlo bien
Ir por las calles y querer

Volar con el viento
Y sentir que se para el tiempo
Sentir que se para el tiempo

Deja lo malo, para de pensar
En que podría haber sido
Y empieza ya a ver que el
Futuro está llamando a tu puerta
Así que aprovecha haz como yo y di

To fly with the wind
And feel that the time has stopped
Paint the moment
And to chase after the clouds
I can sing, have fun
To go through the streets and to want

To fly with the wind
And feel that the time has stopped
Feel that the time has stopped

Let bad things go, stop thinking
About what could have been
And begin now to see that the Future is calling at your door
So take advantage of the opportunity, do as I do, and say
